Leaky Village Hall Roof is Headache to Board Members

After expenditure of $2,800 for new roof, leak develops in siren tower — Board discusses street repairs — Will purchase equipment for firemen — Audit bills for roads washed out by storms.

The Village Fathers will purchase six rubber coats for the firemen and also have a hose nozzle, which is leaking, repaired. L. E. Handy, representing the Fire Board, composed of members of both companies, addressed the board on needs of the Fire Companies as determined by the Fire Board.

He stated new fire hose is needed. The Village Board deferred action on the purchase of the fire hose.

Mr. Handy stated the local firemen would like to extend an invitation to the New York-Penn Firemen to hold their 1941 annual convention in Addison and asked the Board members to write a letter also inviting the annual convention to Addison. This will be done. The Advertising Club will also be asked to send an invitation.

A dike note for $1,500 was deferred to beyond the date of the last note due for in making the arrangements for the payment of the note, two were listed in one year. The notes have about five years yet to run.

A sewer line will be constructed on Tuscarora street where repairs have been made in spite of objections of a taxpayer as the sewer is outside the taxpayer's line. State highway employees pointed out the danger there and stated the village will be liable if anyone is injured.

Williams-Greengrass Post American Legion, through former County Adjutant Hubert Orr, thanked the members of the Village Board for the use of the village hall during the recent American Legion County Convention.

Trustees will make an informal survey of streets needing oiling this year. Baldwin and Brooks avenues were especially mentioned.

Louis Hill, representing the Odd Fellows, asked that the Board do something relative to the leak in the roof of the village hall. Water seeping down into the recently renovated Odd Fellows rooms is causing a great deal of damage. The board spent $2,800 repairing the roof last year. The leak seems to be in the tower where the fire siren is located. Board members agreed that something will have to be done and will make repairs.

Leo Scott to Head NY-P Firemen

John O'Keefe, Addison, is the retiring president of the New York-Penn Firemen's Association. He presided at a meeting held last Thursday night in Blossburg when a nominating committee prepared a slate of officers to be presented at the annual convention to be held in Horseheads Thursday and Friday, August 15 and 16.

Leo Scott of Westfield, long active in the association and chairman of last year's convention committee, is the choice for president to replace Mr. O'Keefe. He is president of the Curry Hose in Westfield.

Those nominated to serve with him are: Vice president, Howard Keeler, Canisteo; second vice president, Ray M. Green, Galeton; third vice president, George Curran of Horseheads; fourth vice president, Dr. Holmes of Elkland. Roland Kennedy, Avoca, secretary-treasurer, was renominated.

Firemen present staged a parade with members of the Addison and Blossburg companies appearing at full strength.

Chief George Curran and Ray Margeson of Horseheads outlined convention programs. Fire Chief Clark of Williamsport, and Edward Bouse of the State Firemen's Bureau of Pennsylvania, spoke on fire safety and techniques.

Homer Reynolds Fathers Brood of Pheasants

Homer Reynolds is custodian of a group of Hungarian pheasants, unusual in this vicinity. The pheasants came into his possession thru an accident. A hen was sitting on them in a field and was killed by a piece of farm machinery running over her. The eggs were found in the nest, brought to his home in Addison and all eggs in the group hatched. Homer is hoping he can raise them to maturity and release them for propagation in the vicinity.

The bride was attended by Miss Beverly Phillips and the groom had Robert Hallett as best man.

The bride was attired in a street-length gown of black and white with tailored hat and appropriate accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of sweetheart roses.

After a short wedding trip they returned to Addison where they are living on the Hardscrabble farm owned by the groom's father and managed by the groom. They plan a trip to New York and the World's Fair in the fall.

Father Kirsch Resigns From Redeemer Church

The Rev. Dr. Russell O. Kirsch, priest in charge of the Episcopal Church, announced his resignation to the members of the vestry of the church at a meeting held Wednesday night in the parish house. The resignation came as a complete surprise to the members of the vestry.

He has accepted an assistantship in St. Peter's Church in Westchester, New York, and will begin his duties there the first week in September. Father Kirsch expects to remain in Addison the balance of this month.

He came to Addison June 1, 1939 upon completion of a course in General Theological Seminary. He was ordained here by the Rt. Rev. Bartel H. Reinheimer, Bishop of Rochester.

Father Kirsch is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kirsch of Hanover, N. H. While in Hanover he was graduated from Dartmouth College. From there he went to General Theological Seminary in New York where he was an honor student.

St. Peter's where he is to be assistant to the Rector, the Rev. Edmund Sills, is one of the oldest Episcopal parishes in the east. It was established in 1690. The first American Episcopal Bishop Seabury was the fourth Rector of the parish. There are two parish houses, several parish organizations and over 400 children. Father Kirsch's work will be mostly among the youth of the parish.

It is with sincere regret that his parishioners here learn of his resignation and leaving Addison, for he has made many friends since coming here. Father Kirsch has also spent considerable time in Corning in Christ Church, assisting the Rev. Roger Alling at various times.

Hi-Lights and Shadows of the Week's News

There has been a lull in the air attacks upon Britain the past week, with planes coming over singly or in small formations instead of waves of fifty and a hundred. British leaders believe this is the calm before the real storm and look for a terrific bombardment before this week ends. Some Britains think the next air attack of consequence will be launched against the sprawling city of London.

Nineteen British warships left the harbor of Gibraltar Tuesday, heading first into the Mediterranean and then turning into the Atlantic in an unexplained maneuver. With tides and weather favoring this week as the time for Hitler to launch his frontal attack on Britain it has been pointed out the fleet may be lurking near the Channel ready to join the battle if Nazi boats attempt to cross. If Hitler delays attack much longer the late fogs and stormy weather will greatly impede his crossing.

The Isle of Britain has been turned into an armed fortress during the weeks of respite since Hitler conquered France and announced he would blitzkrieg England. The coast line to a depth of 20 miles has been fortified and armed and whether he wins or loses the expected assault Nazi troops will pay a terrific price when and if they try to land on British shores. The R. A. F. has done all it could to hinder a massed attack by bombing troop concentrations and the likely jumping off places for an expedition from France, Holland and Norway.

Italy has launched an offensive against British possessions in Africa. An army of 250,000 men is marching from Libya to Egypt. If Mussolini can beat the British in Africa he would control the great ring of coast line 5,000 miles long. Opposed to Mussolini will be the British Colonial Army including divisions of the hard fighting Australians.

Debate on the Conscription Bill brought bitter personal quarrels to the surface in Congress this week. Senators Holt of Va. and Minton of Indiana threw epithets at each other Tuesday even before conscription was actually introduced in that chamber. Little opposition (Continued on Page 6)

Several schools are being held in cities of the state which make possible the appearance of Miss Richardson in Addison for our cooking school.

Some of the highlights of the school in addition to the personal lectures and demonstrations by Miss Richardson will be the presentation of attractive gifts, recipe sheets, lectures on time-saving methods about the home and kitchen and opportunities for questions and answers.

Watch these columns for further details on this personalized cooking school built for the women of Addison and Woodhull and vicinity. Remember the dates, Friday, August 30, Friday, September 6 and Friday, September 13 at 3 o'clock daylight time.

Boy Scouts Plan Olympic Contests

Boy Scouts of Troop 27 went to Corning last Thursday for a swim in Denison Park pool. When they arrived there the pool was being cleaned and there was no swimming. John Orr, who was in charge of the group took them to see a softball game played by teams in the Corning league. The game was fast and the Scouts enjoyed it.

Tonight, Thursday, they will meet at Scout headquarters and participate in the Olympic meet based on a story of the Olympics held every ten years in various parts of the world and based on the old Greek Olympics. Acting Scoutmaster Harry Mullen will be in charge.

Phoenix Hose Realizes $190 On Carnival

Officers of the Phoenix Hose Co. have given an account of the amount of money realized on their recent carnival in this village. The total amount received was $472.50. This was derived as follows: from the guarantee of the Pioneer Shows, $350 and from the advertising by merchants in the souvenir pamphlet $122.50.

The amount of money expended was as follows: Electricity, for carnival, $88.96; prizes for Firemen's parade, water fight and pet parade, $63; advertising, $60; miscellaneous, $13.34; gasoline for committee cars, $13; refreshments for visiting firemen and workers, $11, making a total expenditure of $232.30. The net profit to the firemen was $190.20.

In addition to the above money left in the community for the Phoenix firemen, much money was expended here according to members of the Phoenix Hose Company and merchants here. The hotels received a great deal of additional revenue as the result of roomers for the week, men and women from the carnival company. Pep-O bakery provided the baked goods for the carnival food stands, local grocers and meat stores provided the food stuffs used on the carnival food stands and many of the people traveling with the show ate in local restaurants. Others lived in local rooming houses, adding to the revenue left in the community as the result of the Phoenix Hose Old Home Week celebration.

ARM IN SLING

Henry L. Sherwood is carrying his arm in a sling as the result of a fall from a haymow a few days ago. No bones were broken but he suffered a wrenched shoulder and torn ligaments in the fall.

Addison Jail Criticized By State Inspector

The Addison jail was criticized in a recent report from Commissioner Samuel H. Miller who made an inspection July 4. This in spite of the fact the local authorities tried to meet the requirements he set down in his last visit here.

He recommended the removal of steel bunks, and polished wooden bunks should be placed there. He also advocated the painting of the cells, also keeping them clean and lockers should be enclosed.

The new bunks of plywood in the Addison jail were severely criticized. They were only installed a short time ago in what the village fathers thought would be meeting the state requirements and made according to state specifications.

THE HAPPIER

A few years ago a woman watched her beloved niece on the point of death from infection caused by firecracker burns. She went home and prayed about it, then returned to the hospital with a bold suggestion to the doctors. She proposed to have her bloodstream infected from the child's veins and build up resistance so her blood could then be used to cure the niece. The doctors objected but finally consented to this rash experiment. Mrs. McMullins' idea proved to be sound and her niece recovered.

The restoration of health to the child was not the end of the story about Mrs. McMullins.
When her blood was analyzed it was discovered she was a perfect storehouse of valuable life saving serums. She had contracted and recovered from several infections including streptococci and her veins held the promise of life to many a person otherwise doomed to die.

Mrs. McMullins accepted the knowledge as a challenge and volunteered to give transfusions at a wholesale rate. Since she saved her niece she has given over 200 in cases of the most dire need.
She has traveled to many parts of the country to give blood, often hurrying to a hospital across the country by plane. Often the calls for her blood come so fast she has to decide which of several requests should be honored. Her husband is a salesman proud of his wife's accomplishments in giving new life to scores and the couple live on his modest income. Aside from transportation costs Mrs. McMullins refuses to accept any pay for her blood, maintaining she does not want to make any money out of human misery.

In a world full of misery, despotic wars and threats against the liberty and happiness of the whole human race the story of Mrs. McMullins stands out like a beacon light of hope. A little woman giving her blood to save lives as fast as her system will replenish it, and finding great satisfaction in doing so. Doubtless Mrs. Mc-Mullins could command large sums for her blood in some cases where she brings back health to persons of means, and in accepting good fees she could be no more censured than would be a skilled surgeon who performs a difficult operation and takes a large sum in payment.

A few weeks ago after completing the conquest of France Hitler returned to Germany from a tour of inspection of the devastated country.
He was pictured by writers as being buoyantly happy over his great conquest as the Nazi leaders called him the greatest leader in history. For once the man's naturally melancholy nature seemed to have been abandoned and the Führer appeared a care-free, laughing individual quite like other men. Victory in a war long planned-for was said to have made Hitler supremely happy.

Was Hitler really happy? Perhaps the sensation seemed to him to be happiness, but we venture to say that Mrs. McMullins enjoys more happiness every day in thinking about the God-given power for saving life which flows in her veins, than Hitler can ever enjoy if he conquers Britain as well as France and lives to be a hundred years old. For her happiness comes from the knowledge that she has brought happiness into a world of sorrow as hundreds of friends of those she saved with her blood express their thankfulness to her. While the triumph of Hitler has been purchased at the expense of thousands of lives and hundreds of thousands of human beings plunged into sorrow by his conquests.

Amidst all the world distress brought about by ruthless killers leading nations like Germany, Italy, Russia and Japan over the bodies of their victims, the triumph of Mrs. McMullins over threatening death should give comfort to Christian people who may have wondered if the end of the world was coming in terror and fire in our day. For a world which can still produce women like her can eventually find leadership to overcome the villainous intent of despots who would overthrow liberty and enslave free nations.

THE TRUTH

"The paramount question is how soon, if ever, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie or both will begin to tell the people the truth about the national defense. The people are not being told the truth". Thus speaks Walter Lippmann.

Our opinion on the question is that neither of them will ever tell the people so long as it is expedient to politics to deceive the masses.

It is also our opinion that much of the unrest in the world today is due directly to a lack of confidence between the masses and those responsible for governmental decisions.

The public just isn't taken into consideration until the time comes that men and munitions get together. Then, in a great majority of cases, the men know little of the fundamentals, or of the reasons.

Statesmen create a great to-do about Communism, Fascism, Nazism, and all other isms except those isms by which they repeatedly get elected to office. In many cases it is but a smoke screen to hide their selfish interests.

When the day of reckoning does come—and it will come unless these politicians find a convenient stopping place—you will find a small army of political leeches facing a bitter opposition, who by its own numbers will turn this country topsy-turvy.

It is a high time that politics was ruled a second favorite to patriotism.

NEEDLESS DELAY

Are we on the road to adequate defense, or are we simply making a noise with dollars which sounds like getting prepared? Recently the ac-casion was made that orders for airplanes so seriously needed to bring this nation up to this vital arm of defense were laying on official desks in Washington. Billions had been pledged by Congress, but not a plane had actually been ordered since the country decided to re-arm last spring.

If this be true, and there has been no official denial heard from the Administration, then it is time that Congress blew off the lid to find out why the unpardonable delay. Are the billions to be spent by the bureaucrats running from one department to another, instead of going into actual flying craft?

We are led to believe this country is in such danger our young men should be conscripted by the millions and placed under enforced military training. Congress has been urged to enact the enabling legislation immediately so drafting can start within a few weeks. Yet airplane companies cannot fill government orders because those orders are pigeonholed somewhere in Washington.

Both major parties have emphatically declared our soldiers shall not be sent across to fight again, so why all this rush to conscript them?
Can it be that in the face of all this danger, real as well as fancied, the Administration is carrying out preparedness measures with all the inefficiency, waste and political corruption which has characterized seven years of New Deal? The people have stood for this bureaucratic waste in the past, but now sentiment is overwhelmingly for arming to the teeth they will want all the money appropriated spent for planes, ships and guns. If it is not they ask the reason why and unless the answer satisfies they will speak through the ballot box.

ALIEN PROBLEMS

The rebuke administered by Supreme Court Justice Lapham to aliens habitually on relief who apply for citizenship papers, has a pointed parallel in the recent statement by Prof. George T.
Renner, of Teachers College, Columbia University, that there is too much coddling of alien theories of government by the schools of this country.

A number of cases of aliens who have been on relief for many years, recently have been unearthed by the authorities here. Justice Lapham, in suspending citizenship papers to applicants of that kind, called attention to a problem that has become increasingly serious with the expansion of public relief rolls through the lavish use of federal money. With employment opening up as a result of the defense program, he properly reminded aliens of their duty to find work so that they might become useful citizens of this most fortunate of all countries.

In considering responsibility for this problem of the unconverted alien, Professor Renner looks squarely at the schools, which he says have failed to see what was happening to the country in the great wave of immigration that began about 75 years ago. Hordes were admitted, he says, and while the majority was absorbed to become good citizens, many others settled in large blocs, and "planted all their cultural, linguistic, religious, educational and political mores in our soil".

"These were followed by bunds, Christian fronts, fellow travelers, faith columnists, anti-Smites and other old world mildew". The descendants of these people, he said, may and often do live for several generations by themselves, still speaking imperfect English and have only superficial contacts with the American people.

He proposes a program especially designed to bring alien centers into full exposure with American education. Every child, he insists, should be placed "under systematic exposure to the cardinal points of the American way". Something of this sort has been urged with increasing emphasis in recent years. It is the only way to counteract the spread of "isms" in the dark.—Rochester Democratic-Chronicle.

THINGS TO PROVE

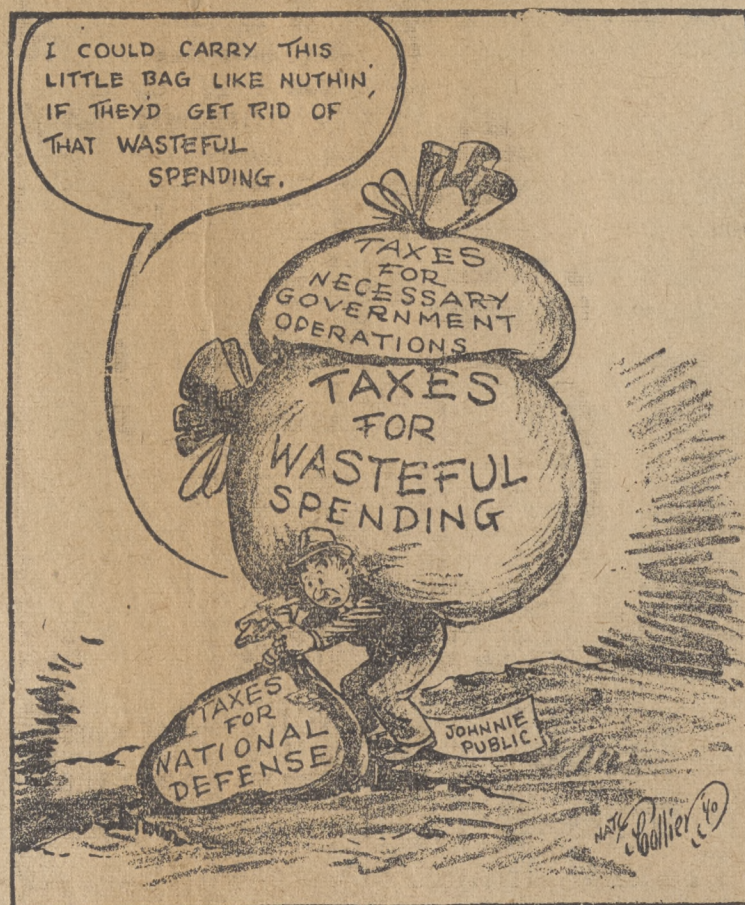

The November show-down will either prove that one man can be, and is, bigger than the party he represents; or it will prove the folly of an over-estimated ego.

President Roosevelt has been elected twice by overwhelming majorities. First, when a great mass of voters decided that a change was necessary, and second by spending his way into public favor.

A natural question, now in the minds of many, is this—can he be re-elected after breaking every precedent and policy of his own party, and isn't there a natural reaction to his lavish spending?

Another question to be answered in November is this: Can the President afford to discard such important cogs as Farley, Garner, Glass, mentioning only a few of the Democratic party's teresting and timely.

QUESTION. How long does it take the heat that sunburns one's hand to reach the hand from the time it left the sun?

ANSWER. Eight minutes and 20 seconds. Most books will tell you that it is 500 seconds.—Dr. William R. Fredrickson, physicist.

QUESTION. Is it true that a person's ears grow or enlarge from birth to death but that the eyes do not grow, that is stay the same size?

ANSWER. From the point of view of actual growth, this is not true. The eyes grow from time of birth until the individual has reached maturity. The ears also grow.
The idea suggested in this question probably arises from the fact that in old age the contour of the face changes and the ears become more prominent and appear larger.
—Dr. Verius Lindeman, physiologist.

QUESTION. Is there any chance to grow sugar beets in New York State?

ANSWER. Ordinary commercial sugar beets will grow well around New York and they have been raised here in large quantities. In order to make it possible for a sugar factory to operate, most of the farmers in several counties would have to agree to raise large quantities of sugar beets every year.

The factory on the other hand would have to get all of these beets into the factory before they freeze.
That is the determining factor. I think. In New York State the fall is too short and too cold. The difficulty is in what to do with the beets after they are grown, and not so much in the growing of the beets.—Dr. Ernest Reed, geneticist.

QUESTION. Is it harmful to drink orange pekoe tea that has stood for some time in the leaves?

ANSWER. If tea leaves are steeped longer than usual the infusion becomes somewhat more concentrated and the resulting tea is stronger and more astringent from the greater amount of tannin extracted.

If tea leaves are kept in water for many hours, say 18 to 24 hours or more at room temperature, the liquid would be likely to undergo bacterial fermentation with the formation of some lactic acid. Sour-ing would occur. Such soured tea would be unpalatable but not particularly more harmful than unsoured tea.—Prof. Henry N. Jones, bacteriologist.

QUESTION. What is a falling star?

ANSWER. One generally calls a falling star that small speck of light about as bright as an ordinary star which is frequently observed to dart across the sky at night. The technical name for a falling star is a meteor.

The average meteor is a small piece of matter about the size of a pin head which has been heated to incandescence by the friction it has encountered in passing through the atmosphere. The things which we call falling stars are small but larger objects appear also and they usually are called fire balls or meteorites. Some meteorites are known to be up to a mass of 50 tons or more.

The average falling star may be from about 60 to 80 miles high when it begins to glow and it is entirely consumed when it has reached a height of 40 or 50 miles.

If these falling stars are members of the solar system, they are traveling about 26 miles per second when they enter our atmosphere. From recent astronomical studies of meteors we find that most of them travel faster than this. Some have been observed to travel as fast as 150 miles per second.

No record exists of anyone having been hit by one of these falling stars or fire balls. One fell in Siberia in 1908 and destroyed everything within a radius of 20 miles. In this part of Siberia there were no people, but it was found that a herd of reindeer had been wiped out completely.—Dr. Fredrickson.

QUESTION. Does drinking water which has high lime content cause gallstones, kidney stones and the like?

ANSWER. The lime in water is beneficial. Lime is necessary to many of the body functions if it is properly utilized. It does not make a great deal of difference whether we get the calcium from drinking water or milk. Gallstones and kidney stones are not caused by calcium in the drinking water. Such stones are composed of a fatty substance from the bile.—Dr. Linde-man.

QUESTION. Is there any insulator for magnetism?

ANSWER. If this question has to do with the problem of insulating a piece of apparatus from magnetism, the answer is to surround the apparatus with a casing of what is generally called soft iron which is easily magnetized.
The magnetic lines of force will then pass in the iron around the apparatus and not touch the apparatus.—Dr. Fredrickson.

The Dutch Elm Disease

D. S. Welch

The American elm is without doubt the most valuable shade and ornamental tree in the United States. Many cities and towns are noted for the beauty of their elms, and no one can estimate their value to the communities.

Because of the ravages of the Dutch elm disease, the question is asked: Should the American elm be planted any more? The answer is yes, where it is the most logical tree to use and if facilities are provided for protection.

Since the summer of 1933 when the disease was discovered in New Jersey, on Staten Island and in Westchester County, thousands of other diseased trees have been found. Most of them are in New Jersey, southern New York and southwestern Connecticut. In New York State alone, the number of diseased trees have been decreased from 2504 in 1934 to 1203 in 1939.
Last year two diseased trees were found in Columbia County, one in Chenango and ten in Broome County.

Facts on the Dutch elm disease and its control, and pictures of diseased wood and elm bark beetles, are given in the new Cornell bulletin E-347. Single copies are free to New York State residents who write to the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, New York.

Incidentally the Reds won 55 of their first 85 games to almost approach the Chicago Cubs' record of won 56 of their first 85 games. The Cincinnati team has been in first place seven different times this season, each time being displaced by Brooklyn.

WINDSORS' NEW HOME
Government House,

BEARDS AND BANNERS . . . Colorful note in Omaha's Golden Spike Days celebration was Union Pacific's whiskered band, which marched down main stem playing "The Advance of Aluminum" in honor of railroad's fleet of aluminum streamliners, nation's largest and last word in modern travel luxury, far cry from trains in days when rails first joined East and West.

I am often amused at the strifing going on in various organizations and among various individuals. It seems that it is unfortunate in small communities that such should be the case, but the intimacy makes it seem greater, many times greater than it really should be. A good old sit-down-and-talk-it-over session would end a lot of the irregularities.

And this brings me to a point I have repeated before and which I feel most keenly. It is not original with me. The point is that Addison should have a community Council, where organized representatives would gather three or four times per year and mutually discuss programs for the community. A planning commission like this would eliminate much sorrow among competing organizations with members in many groups. Workers cannot spread themselves over too many organizations and drones hold onto existing organizations just because.
There are some that could be abolished without harm to the community, and the members could devote more time to existing, progressive organizations.

Dr. W. S. A. Pott, president of Elmira College states that in "view of the number of marriages in which young women of his institution are involved, his institution might well be called a match factory. And he added, "the heads are supplied by us while they have to go to men's colleges to get the sticks".

For several seasons Rudy Wade has been promising me fish. He has made expeditions to Geneva, to the Adirondacks, along the Tuscarora Creek and Canisteo River and I have gone fishless after all these seasons. But this week he came through. And what a nice mess of fish the Ramblers ate. It was a dandy and I take back all I might have said about his fishing ability.

One young lady went to the Grange picnic Wednesday and by mistake picked up a bag of turnips instead of her picnic lunch when leaving home. Her mother discovered the error and brought the right lunch to her before her face got too red.

I heard that Ed Wade of Passaic went over to Bath the other day and came back with chewed ears. How about it Ed?

It is with sincere regret that the Ramblers leave the resignation of the Rev. Russell O. Kirsch as priest-in-charge of the Church of the Redeemer. However, he is advancing in his chosen career and going to a larger field in a metropolitan center where his influence will reach wider and I'm sure the young people in his new charge will benefit by his coming. I wish him well.

The new Phoenix Hose band got quite a workout Saturday. In the afternoon they appeared in Cameron Mills at the Old Home Day and Saturday night marched in the Fire-ped dead.

I still think marking the pavements would be good for parking more cars on Main street and should be done, in spite of objections raised by members of the village Board and some Main street merchants. I believe that by having the lines painted every year, people will be educated to park within lines and thus more cars can be parked.

And this brought up the old argument that if Main street merchants took their cars off the street there would be more room. At least 16 cars were counted one time as belonging to merchants and employees.

The Cameron Mills Old Home Day celebration lived up to past performances in the fine weather, the colorful parade and the informal speaking. I enjoy going up there for I meet some interesting people.
Jack Hanrahan had an old time

I hope the women of the community and vicinity will remember that the Advertiser-Sentinel has a the date.

Something will have to be done about the refuse in the alleys in the rear of the Main street buildings, and from what I hear I guess it is not confined to Main street. It is a health menace. In many cases American in these alleys, animals eat the decayed food, and on warm days the stench is terrific. Looks to me like a job for the health authorities in cooperation with the police department. Have had several complaints.

Two young couples in this village will not easily forget what a "horning bee" is, for they were routed out of bed late Monday night with the blowing of horns, rattling of cans, beating of drums and shooting of guns. Those who engineered the project were Dorothy Saraen and Clara Chart from what I can learn, altho I would not be surprised if Bill Newman and "Tiny" Sprague were concerned in it. Those serenaded were Mr. and Mrs. John Taft and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dann.

That's all.

Jelly Filled Cookies Good Refreshments

Old fashioned double decker sugar cookies with a jelly filling make mighty good companions for summer beverages. Roll out rich sugar cookies, spread half with a tart jelly—plum, currant or raspberry. Cover with the rest of the cookies and press together. Prick the tops with a fork and bake. It is best to serve these cookies the day baked.

If you have a favorite recipe—please send it along. Contributions to this department will be welcomed.

MAINE BLUEBERRY CAKE ADDS COLOR TO TABLE

Whether in cake or in muffins, blueberries always color the summer menu to everyone's taste. Served with crisp dry cereals, they waken the breakfast appetite brightly, and for various desserts are full of flavor and intense color. There are plenty in the markets now at reasonable prices.

Maine Blueberry Cake
(12 by 8 by 2-inch cake) 2½ cups sifted flour 2½ tps. combination baking powder ½ tsp. salt
½ cup butter or other shortening 1 cup sugar
1 egg, unbeaten
½ cup milk
2 cups blueberries

Sift the flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together well. Add egg to mixture and beat very thoroughly. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time beating after each addition until smooth. This makes a stiff batter. Fold in blueberries. Turn into greased 12x8x2-inch pan, spreading evenly. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Makes 24 2-inch squares.

Blueberry Muffins
2 cups sifted flour
2 tps. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
4 tps. sugar
1 cup milk
3 tps. melted butter
1 egg, beaten
1 cup blueberries

Sift dry ingredients. Combine liquid ingredients and add to dry mixture as quickly as possible, mixing only enough to dampen flour. Fold in blueberries. Fill greased muffin tins 2/3 full and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 25 minutes.

Blueberry Two-Crust Pie
1 recipe pastry
¼ tsp. salt
¾ cup sugar
3 tps. flour
4 cups washed and drained blueberries 1 U.S. butter

Line 9-inch pie pan with pastry. Combine 1 tsp. sugar with the flour and sprinkle this mixture remaining 2 tps. flour with the salt. Fill the pastry with alternate layers blueberries and sugar mixture. Dot with tiny pieces of butter. Cover with top layer pastry. Bake in moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) for about 30 minutes.

CINNAMON FLAVORED COFFEE NEW, TASTY

Cinnamon-flavored coffee is something new in the way of a summer beverage. Pour cold coffee, rather strong, into the trays of the refrigerator. Sprinkle lightly with powdered cinnamon and freeze as usual. Use three cubes to each glass of coffee, top off with a dash of vanilla ice cream or vanilla-flavored whipped cream and you have Mocha Float.

SERVE NEW BISCUITS WITH SALADS

Peanut biscuits are something new to serve with salad. Add one-half cup peanut butter to your regular biscuit recipe, mixing it with the fat. Instead of rolling the dough, drop portions of it from the tip of a spoon onto greased baking sheets. Bake 12 minutes in a moderately hot oven. While they're hot brush the tops of the biscuits with butter and serve at once.

Here are two recipes which call for fresh or canned sour cherries.

Cherry Almond Tart
1 qt. fresh sour red cherries 1 cup sugar
1 tsp. cornstarch
2 tps. cold water ½ tsp. almond flavoring 6 tart shells

Wash and pit cherries. Add sugar and let stand for 30 minutes to extract juice. Drain off juice and add enough water to make ¾ cup. Heat and thicken with cornstarch mixed to a paste in cold water; add flavoring. Fill tart shells with cherries; pour over juice and chill. Garnish with whipped cream.

Cherry Nut Bread
1½ cups fresh sour cherries ¾ cup sugar
3 cups flour
4 tps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
½ cup chopped walnuts Grated rind ½ lemon 1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
2 tps. melted butter

Wash, remove pits and chop cherries. Add half the sugar and let stand. Sift remaining sugar with dry ingredients; add walnuts and lemon rind. Combine beaten egg, milk and melted butter and add to first mixture. Fold in cherries. Bake in greased bread pan in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 1 to 1½ hours.

When lagging appetites need a boost, a light frothy fish soufflé might well turn the trick—especially with a savory Spanish sauce to go with it.

Fish Soufflé
2 cups cooked salmon or other fish ¼ tsp. salt
2 tps. lemon juice
½ cup soft stale bread crumbs ½ cup milk
3 egg yolks
3 egg whites

Thoroughly rinse fish, remove bones and skin, separate into flakes and add seasoning. Cook bread crumbs in milk 5 minutes, add fish and egg yolks beaten until thick and lemon-colored; then cut and fold in egg whites beaten until stiff. Turn into buttered dish, set in pan of hot water, and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until firm. Serve with Spanish sauce.

Spanish Sauce
2 tps. chopped carrot
1 tps. ham or bacon 2 tps. chopped celery
2 tps. chopped carrot
1 tps. chopped onion 4 tps. butter, or 2 tps. if bacon is used 4 tps. flour
1 1/3 cups consommé
2/3 cup stewed tomatoes Cook ham or bacon and vegetables with butter until butter is well browned; add flour, stir. Then add consommé and tomatoes; cook 5 minutes and strain or not, as desired.

TRY DRIED BEEF THIS NEW WAY

Chipped or dried beef is always on every homemaker's shelves for it is the most economical of dishes and one that is a universal favorite. It's easy on the cook too, for it saves hours of standing over hot stoves or ovens.

This recipe for dried beef is just what its name implies—supreme. Just try it, and see if you don't agree there's a smack of something really new and different about it.

Addison Quartet Fishes Good Adirondack Spot

Fish by the tubful. Such is the characterization of the fishing grounds found by four local nimrods last week in the Adirondacks. The four, George A. Smith, John W. Russ, Russell Wade and Ralph Wade packed a car with grub and tackle last Friday afternoon and headed north where the cool winds come from and the fish are big and fighters. The quartet fished and ate, fished and ate. Many of the fish they caught they claimed they threw back. But they brought back a mess of fish which would delight the heart of anyone. They enjoyed the sport and also the fish.

Leiby and Dr. Ora Smith, specialists of the College of Agriculture, and Raymond Swezey of the Department of Agriculture and Markets, were in charge of the various parts of the day's program. Addison Loses to Caton In Poorly Played Game Caton defeated Addison in a one-sided and sloppily-played baseball game played here Sunday afternoon, 5 to 2. The Addison Merchants seem to be running true to form displayed during the past four years. The team starts out at the beginning of the season as enthusiastic and good ball players. Then games start late, players fail to show up, some play sloppily and amid mid-season the team begins a collapse. Spectators may see one man substitute in several positions as players do not appear.

Sunday's game was no exception. The fellows could not hit the offers of Cotter, pitching for Caton. Clark pitched good ball for Addison but was given ragged support from infield and outfield, errors accounting for several of the visiting runs. Walt McDermott substituting at first, was heavy sticker for Addison, driving one near the tennis court for the longest hit of the game.

Sunday the locals do not have a game.

United States Senator James M. Mead, Buffalo, addressed a large outdoor gathering at St. Catherine's Old Home Day celebration Sunday afternoon, reminding his audience of the world crisis and its effect on the United States. He advocated preparedness for the United States and opposed sending soldiers abroad. The distinguished guest was presented by Postmaster John O'Keefe, who was the butt of several stories told by the Senator as the result of the introduction. With Senator Mead was Anthony Lalle of the Civil Aeronautics Authority in Washington. They were en route from Buffalo to Washington. They arrived in time for luncheon here and remained in Addison about two hours.

The Old Home Day celebration started Saturday afternoon with a series of games on the church lawn. This was continued through Saturday night.

The first event on Sunday's program was the Field Mass in St. Catherine's Cemetery, which was attended by a large group of former residents who returned for the day.

The Rev. Patrick J. Kelly, pastor of St. Catherine's, was celebrant of the Mass. The Rev. John Smith of St. Mary's Church, Corning was the orator of the occasion. He chose as his theme, "May the Angels Lead Thee Into Paradise". He spoke of the Catholic doctrine of "ternity".

Commissioner Cole Rules That a Teacher Equals Parent in Right To Inflict Corporal Punishment

Parents and teachers alike will be keenly interested in a decision rendered last week by State Education Commissioner Ernest E. Cole upholding a teacher who inflicted corporal punishment upon a child. Mr. Cole ruled that "a teacher is accorded by law the same authority to inflict corporal punishment as is accorded a parent."

The ruling of Commissioner Cole came after an appeal in the "Mary Allen" case in Chemung County. Mrs. Harry C. Toles of Walter street Elmira taught last spring in the Upper Hendy Creek District where Mary Allen was a pupil. Parents of children in the district alleged that Mrs. Toles punished Mary Allen so severely bruises were inflicted. A charge of third degree assault was brought against the teacher by the child's grandfather, Fred Osgood. Arraigned before Peace Justice James O. McClure, Mrs. Toles paid a fine of $25 after the justice of the peace recorded a plea of guilty.

Parents in the Hendy Creek School then petitioned Commissioner Cole to revoke Mrs. Toles' license. The Elmira teacher then appealed her conviction to Judge Newman who reversed the judgment of conviction against her July 13 and ordered the return of the fine.

In denying the petition Commissioner Cole held that: "The fact that this teacher inflicted corporal punishment upon the child as charged is not cause for revocation of her license. The evidence must be conclusive that the corporal punishment inflicted by her was unreasonable in manner and immoderate in degree. The evidence presented is wholly inadequate to establish the same."

This decision of Commissioner Cole should settle any question in the minds of parents and school authorities whether a teacher has the right to inflict corporal punishment on a child.

Taxpayers Survey of Steuben County Spending Is Assured by Funds

Funds needed for a tax survey of Steuben County have been assured according to President William Campbell and Treasurer William Holland of Hornell. Permission has been given by the Board of Supervisors for this survey to be made under the auspices of the Steuben County Taxpayers' Association, a non-political, non-profit organization of organized taxpayers of the county. The Association is not critical of the Board of Supervisors, but feels that with an outside agency making a survey, some opportunities to save can be found in the expenditure of public funds in Steuben County. After the survey is made and recommendations given the supervisors, they are under no obligation to conform or enforce any of the recommendations. However, it has been pointed out that where the recommendations have been put into practical use, taxpayers of the county or other governmental units have saved money.

$50,000 Gladiolus Display At State Fair Show

Syracuse, Aug. 7—Due to the ideal weather which has prevailed for growing of gladioluses, the $50,000 Gladiolus Show, annually conducted by the Empire State Gladiolus Society, is expected to assume greater proportions than ever before at the 100th Anniversary New York State Fair here, August 25 to September 2.

Every indication points to the heaviest entry in the history of the gladiolus display, according to Prof. N. A. Rotunno, flower show superintendent, with the feature expected to be almost double in size that of last year and infinitely better in quality. The heavy drouth of last year hindered gladioluses but this year the heavy late spring rains, followed by an extended warm spell, are expected to produce the finest blooms in recent years.

The gladiolus show will be held two days, Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 26 and 27, as a feature of the State Fair Flower Show.

British sources asserted in comment on Cudahy's remarks that Belgium would not have a famine, if Germany divided up food stuffs with her.

New Mosquito Dope Said to Be Effective

A partial victory has been won over the diabolical trio that torments the white man—the mosquito, black fly and punky. This announcement comes from the Extension Department of the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse University, regarding information published in the "Canadian Entomologist". In this publication appears an article by C. G. MacNay, of the Division of Entomology, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Canada.

Most people have their favorite mixtures for repelling these persistent and vicious insects, says the College. Many of the prescriptions contain oil of tar or citronella, in various combinations with other substances. Mr. MacNay recommends the following:

Oil of thyme — 1/2 fluid ounce.
Concentrated extract—pyrethrum in mineral oil (extract of approximately 1/5 lb. of pyrethrum flowers per fluid ounce of concentrate) 1 fluid ounce.

Castor oil—2 to 3 fluid ounces.
This mixture has been tested in various parts of Canada, according to the author and will repel mosquitoes, black flies, punkies and deer flies. It has been found effective over a period varying from three to five hours. It is pleasant to use and has been employed generally by field officers of the Division of Entomology at Ottawa.

The castor oil holds the volatile pyrethrum and the combination is not offensive nor irritating to the person who uses it, according to Mr. MacNay.

Addison High Judging Team Receives Awards

The dairy judging team of the Addison High School continued their excellent judging performance which had been established the past school year by securing a high ranking at the Western New York bull sales day held at Angelica last Saturday. They finished in a tie for third place among 50 schools of western New York.

The team which was composed of Paul Thomson and Warren Perkins, with John O'Connor as alternate secured a total of 500 points out of a possible 700. The contest consisted of the judging of show and production one class, each, of mature Jersey, Ayrshire and Holstein cattle. In addition to this the contestants were obliged to pick from records a desirable head sire which would tend to improve the production of their herds. The records were then compared with the bulls according to conformation, and a final placing made. The four young bulls were those owned by the members of the Allegany Bull Association. The Addison team was tied with Corning Northside for third place. Avoca, another Steuben County entry, received a fourth place rating.

Suitable awards will be sent to the winning schools after a later date. Each individual boy who participated will receive a certificate indicating his placing in the contest. The Addison team has been receiving judging instruction during the summer from Frank Finnerty, teacher of agriculture, the county agent.

Drives From Texas For 8-String Violin

Mrs. E. Clements and daughter of Corpus Christi, Texas, selected an eight-string violin from the manufacturer, Emery Chase, Goodhue Hill, last week. Two Ohlons recently asked to hear some of them and after hearing several paid $70 for one of their choice after the maker had given up hope of making a sale.

The maker predicts the day is coming when millions will be made on this instrument for the cost of raw materials is small and the demand big for no advertising has been done so far. There is an opportunity for mass production. The inventor has patented five features of the violin. He is capable to act as technical advisor if someone realizes the potentialities in this invention. The eight-string violin is really something—Adv.
